St. Bartholomew's.

RECEPTION HELD LATER

Bride's Veil of Rose Point Lace
Was One Her Grandmother Had Worn.

Miss Margaret E. Trevor, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grant Trevor of this city and Southampton, L. I., was married to Dr. Irving Hotchkiss Pardee yesterday afternoon in St. Bartholomew's Church in the presence of a large gathering. Simple decorations in the church consisted of palms and on the altar were white chrysanthemums. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks, the rector.

The bride entered the church with her father. She wore a gown of soft white satin draped with flounces of point lace. Over a veil of tulle was a long veil of rose point lace which had been worn by her grandmother, the late Mrs. George R. Schieffelin. She carried a bouquet of white bouvardia.

Mrs. J. Couper Lord, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. She wore a gown of pale blue satin with a Russian hat of pale blue tulle trimmed with silver lace.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Florence Earle Johnson of Philadelphia, Helen Trevor, sister of the bride; Amy Bradish Johnson, Dorothy Dwight Porter, Gertrude B. Pardee and Eleanor Leroy Lawrence. They wore gowns of pale blue chiffon over silver gossamer finished with capes of silver tulle. They carried large bouquets of Ophelia roses.

Lieut. Harold E. B. Pardee, U. S. R., was the bride's best man. The ushers were Lieut. Huntington Lyman, U. S. R., Dr. Clarence T. Thomas, Ransom Noble, James W. Walsh, Jr., George S. Trevor and Henry Grant Trevor, Jr. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, 27 West Fifty-first street. Among the guests were Mrs. Trevor, Miss Emily Trevor, Mr. and Mrs. John B. ARCHBOLD ESTATE

HERE IS $41,249,996

Oil Magnate's Will Leaves All of Great Property to His Family.

TAX TOTALS MILLIONS

Syracuse University May Be Beneficiary of Rumored Verbal Bequest.

The late John D. Archbold, one of the original trustees of the Standard Oil Company and president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey until his death on May 7, 1916, left a total estate in New York of $41,249,996, of which $38,498,247 is net; neither so large as some of the wilder estimates published at the time of his death nor so small as the tentative estimate placed on the estate by the attorneys when they filed the will. The estimates ran as high as $100,000,000; the Archbold attorneys figured the estate at between $15,000,000 and $25,000,000.

The exact amount of the estate, all of which goes to the testator's immediate family, is set forth in a report filed in the transfer tax office of the Surrogate's Court a few minutes before closing time yesterday by Charles Sweeney, a transfer tax appraiser in the office of the Deputy State Comptroller. This report shows that the estate consisted almost entirely of stocks and bonds, a detailed list of which covers four typed pages.

BRADY SALE FINDS BIDDERS NUMEROUS

Countess de Valmont Among Purchasers at Saturday Auction Session.

The public interest in "Diamond Jim" Brady's art collection shows no sign of abating and the audiences at the American Art Association are as large as ever. Many of the most valuable pieces in the collection were sold yesterday afternoon and the contents of the bidders were lively, as the list of prices indicates.

A French mantle set in gilt bronze, No. 1,115, sold to the Countess de Valmont for $1,800, and this was the leading figure of the day. The set consisted of a clock with candelabra, the bronze further embellished with enamel. Another important sale was No. 1,175, an Empire bedroom suite in mahogany, which went to the Van Brink Gallery for $1,450.

E. J. Wilson paid $1,125 for No. 1,181, a bedroom suite in Circassian walnut, and $125 for No. 1,185, a Berlin rug. A. Rudert, agent, gave $1,350 for No. 1,077, an Anatolian rug, and $250 for No. 1,033, two Arlet Edwards mezzotints. Arthur Emmerich bought No. 1,078, a second Anatolian rug, for $1,100. G. K. Morrow paid $875 for No. 1,079, a Gorenay carpet, and No. 1,074, a large Gorenay carpet, went to Mr. Hickey for $350.

Otto Bernet, agent, gave $700 for No. 1,192, a satinwood bedroom suite, and $550 for No. 1,078, a rug. M. Liebsberger paid $300 for No. 1,087, an Alaskan bedroom suite of mahogany. A. F. Bremer bought No. 1,166, a pair of carved mahogany cabinets, for $270, and $270 for No. 1,167, a pair of carved mahogany cabinets. A. F. OBITUARIES.

THE REV. DR. ISAAC M. ATWOOD

The Rev. Dr. Isaac Morgan Atwood, Universalist minister, educator and editor, who in 1873 and 1874 was editor of the Christian Leader of New York, died Friday night at his home in Washington, D. C. He was 80 years old and was born in Pembroke, N. Y. Dr. Atwood was educated at Royall Academy and the Lockport High School and afterward was ordained for the ministry in 1861.

Dr. Atwood at the time of his death had been for six years professor of theology and philosophy in St. Lawrence University. From 1867 to 1872 he was editor of the Christian Leader. In 1875 he was elected president of the Canton Theological Seminary and held the position for twenty years. He was general superintendent of the Universalist Church in the United States and Canada from 1898 to 1906. He wrote many religious books and magazine articles. His son, John Murray Atwood, is a prominent Universalist clergyman.

WILLIAM M. KILEY.

William M. Kiley, who until his retirement several years ago was one of the country's leading manufacturers of shoes, died Friday at his home, 604 West 115th street. He was born in Canton, Mass., fifty-eight years ago, and formerly was for many years in Cincinnati, where he had a shoe factory. He had also maintained a manufacturing plant at Newark. Mr. Kiley leaves a widow. He was a member of Newark Lodge, B. P. O. E.

JOHN A. DOONER.

John A. Dooner, Superintendent of Buildings in Manhattan under the Van Wyck administration, died Friday at his home, 1403 Voorhies avenue, Brooklyn. Mr. Dooner was born in the old Eighth Ward of New York city sixty-four years ago, and for many years was Democratic captain of the third election district of the First Assembly district in Manhattan. He was one of the few in the inner circles of Tammany Hall and had been an office holder for more than twenty years. He was a man of remarkable physique and had the reputation of being a "big fellow" in the political world. He was married and had four children, four sons and nineteen grandchildren.

CHARLES F. KEARY.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Charles F. Keary, novelist and writer, died Friday. Charles F. Keary, in addition to writing fiction, was a historian and philosopher. He was formerly on the staff of the Illustrated London News and had written many historical and philosophical subjects. He was educated at Marlborough, Trinity College and Cambridge.

FUNERAL OF E. J. WENDELL.

The funeral services for the late Evert Jansen Wendell, who died at Neully, France, on August 25, will be held at Calvary Church, corner of Fourth avenue and Twenty-first street, on Thursday at 10 A. M. The burial will be private. Mr. Wendell's body lately was brought home from France, where he had gone as the special representative of the Aero Club of America to promote the social and physical welfare of American aviators. He had been much interested in the inauguration of the American University in Paris, a clubhouse for college men in military and auxiliary services. He undertook these services at a time when his health was far from secure, and persisted in it at a risk of which he was well aware but by which he refused to be deterred from the service of his country.
